In the Contest for Eight Hours for a Day's Work.

The Only Hope of Peace and Prosper ity-He Denies That Laboringmen are Beer Guzziers Resotions Adopted.

The wage workers of this city held a tonse neeting at Luce's hall last night to lieur discussed the eight-hour question by the Chicago labor agitator, George A. Schilling, The barn-like structure was well filled with representatives of the various trades and the speaker held forth for about an hour and a half, while the reporters struggled with their notes on unplaned boards, occupying apturned boxes for seats. The hall is tilly fitted for public use and sorely stands in need of a junitor. About 800 persons, including a few ladles; sat through the address and from the remarks of the men as they left the hall, there appears to be a united determination to give the proposed head and talks quite intelligently. He was attired in a blue sack-coat, with light trousers and his turn-down collar and black and red bow necktie gave him much the appearance of a man of business rather than a laborer. Schilling has been a member of trades unions since he was 17 years of age and for thirty years has upheld their principles and for the last eight years has advocated them publicly among wage workers in Chicago He was a member of the committee that waited on the various employers of labor in Chicago had December to notify them of the advance dscale of wages demanded, and a few days thereafter was notified by his employers in the packing house that his services were no longer needed, the cause assigned by them being an overplus of hands. Since that period he has been agitating the eight hour system

The meeting was called to order by f' H. till, president of the Central labor union C. C. Barber was chosen chairman and George Stone a furniture worker at the Phoenix, selected as secretary. In assuming the gavel Chairman Barber, said. In the history of the development of society we find no longer an adjustment d the rights of labor, and it is for us to dis cuss the great question, the production of wealth and its equitable division among The speaker quoted an article showing the effects of the introduction of nmehinery in reducing the demand for labor as well as increasing productions, and our "Had the hours of labor been reduced ten years ago there would not have been the present trouble, but the capitalists are taking advantage of unemployed labo as a lever to reduce wages and pile on hours, and the wage-workers. are compelled to force a recognition of their eights. In the Pittsburgh district the natural gas has thrown out of employment 5 000 workingmen who are forced to beg for their very subsistence. Seeing all natural ad cancements in science and muchinery working to their disadvantage, can it be wondered at that the laboring men are dissatis fied? Forty years ago, this country was comparatively free of beggars, but now as our productive capacity time increased the opportunities for making a living have decreased in the same ratio.
